ISRA targets community laws

One might think the debate about carrying concealed reapons would attract the most attention from the Illinois weapons would attract the most attention from the following state Rifle Association.

But group officials have a bigger crusade — a state firearm preemption bill that would bar local communities from enacting stricter gun laws than those on the state books.

James Valentino Jr., president of the ISRA, was in Collinsville for the group's annual convention. He spoke with reporters following a press conference Saturday at the convention.

Most of the Illinois municipalities that restrict firearms are in the Chicago area — including several that have outright bans on the ownership of handguns.

Pratt still pushing Buchanan

While much of the talk was about guns and gun control, a press conference with Larry Pratt, executive director of Gun Owsci of America, exceed up sounding a lot like a raily for Pratt, a co-chairman of Pat Buchanan's presidential campaign until taking a forced leave of absence, spoke at a press conference at the annual Illinois State Rifle Association meeting Saturday in Collinsville. He was to be one of the speakers at the association's banquet that evening.

In a recently-issued report, the Center for Public Integrity accused Pratt of having ties to white supremacist and other racist organizations like the Aryan Nation.

Pratt said that while he doesn't expect his enemies to be fair, they should be accurate.

Food ordinances opposed

Groups that hold bake sales and other fund raisers for charity, those that feed the hungry, and others that run barbecues, fish fries, bake sales and other food-related activities all were at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus on Monday to complain about proposed food inspection and licensing regulations they felt would hinder their programs.

Dogs find drugs at GCHS

Two Granite City High School youths were arrested Friday morning after police found drugs in their lockers during an authorized random search.

An investigation is continuing and more arrests are expected, Principal Bill Rotter said.

While school officials and some students approved of the search, other students said police had gone too far and invaded their privacy. If the privacy of secondary education for the school district said more searches are planned at the high school and at Grigsby and Coolidge Middle Schools.

Wilson dismisses Sasyk

The firing of Pontoon Beaof Economic Developer Mike Sasyk will be overturned by the village board, according to Trustee Mike Macek.

According to a meeting notice sent out by the village clerk, Mayor Glen Wilson fired Sasyk, who has been economic developer for the village for the past three years of that time the position was unpaid, but the village board recently approved a $300 per month salary wilson said Sasyk had done nothing for him or the village. Macek said he is in favor of giving Sasyk a raise.

Alleged abductor captured

A 30-year-old Granite City area man who allegedly abducted a high school girl and tried to force her to perform sexual favors was arrested Thursday night, police said. Randall Scott Demery, of the 500 block of Margaret Avenue in Mitchell, was arrested in the 4100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes Thursday night and charged Friday with child abduction and attempted aggravated criminal sexual assault. Bond was set at $150,000.

Demery, who police said was already on intensive probation for a 1994 carjacking conviction, allegedly abducted the 15-year-old victim at about 6 p.m. Thursday in the 2600 block of Iowa Street.

Police seeking robbery suspects

Staff writer

Police are seeking leads in the investigation of an armed robbery in Granite City early Wednesday morning.

The victim, a 44-year-old Alton woman, told police she was robbed at gunpoint on her way to work in a Granite City restaurant at about 5 a.m. Wednesday while stopped at a traffic signal at the intersection of Missouri Avenue and West Pontoon Road.

'Anyone who sees a vehicle matching the description of the suspect vehicle should immediately call the Granite City Police.

The suspect vehicle is described as an older model brown and beige station wagon with heavy damage and the tailgate missing.

The victim told police the suspect vehicle pulled up behind her while she was waiting for the light to change. Two men — both wearing camouflage pants, dark ski masks and black gloves — exited the station wagon and approached the victim's car, one on each side on the driver's side tried unsuccessfully to smash a window with a large slab of concrete he was carrying.

When the victim refused to open the doors, the man on the driver's side dropped the concrete and pointed a shotgun at the victim, she told police.

The victim opened the driver's door and unlocked the passenger side door, according to a police report. The man on the script of the suppersumption of the suppersump

Food ordinance goes to county committee

Residents' concerns about church dinner and school fund-raisers will be taken into account when a Madison County Board committee recommends a food inspection ordinance, committee members say.

Dozens of residents attended three public hearings, expressing fears that regulations will keep people from bringing homemade food to public gatherings. Those fears were discussed Monday are the Health's bepartme Committee's meeting.

"All we've ever talked about its education and being helpful to people," Committee Chairman Harold Byers said, "We're not going to have enough people think anyone here wants to close down any church dinners or anything like that."

County Health Department Administrator Donald Brannon said the county can't promise not to enforce state laws against home-cooked food being served to the public. But he said the department's main thrust will be to offer training for members of organizations that occasionally sponsor events where food is served.

"We're trying to provide a service," Brann said. "You plan these things in advance. Contact us. Discuss your menu. We'll advise you about potential hazards. We want to be there to help you if necessary. We're looking for voluntary compliance with good public health laws."
The proposed ordinance states, "An inspection may be performed at single-day events dependent on the type of food being prepared and served or the presence of an individual during the event who has participated in a food-safety training class sponsored by the health department."

About 25 people, including several County Board members not on the committee, attended the Health Department Committee's meeting Monday. No formal action was taken.

"This proposal is very invasive in our personal lives," Jackie Monroe of Alton told the committee. "Socializing with food is part of chucate us at no cost, you may go a want to educate us at no cost, you may go a want to accompletely different response." Board member Jack Frandsen of Alhambra said his church requested food inspections and training from the Illinois Department of Public Health.

"Let's exempt groups."

"Let's exempt groups providing they have a certified food handler at their dinners," he said.

Environmental Health Service Manager Toni Corona, who will head the Health Department's food inspection program, suggested that single-day 1525 permit lee and the proposed $45 permit lee and the proposed $45 cww want to encourage people to come to us," she said.

The Rev. Bruce Rushing, pastor of Niedringhaus, United Methodist Church in Granite City, said nonprofit organizations ought to be offered training and inspected only in response to complaints.

Food ordinance vital for county

A couple of public hearings have made it quite clear that the least palatable aspect of a proposed Madison County food inspection ordinance is likely to be the restrictions the ordinance might place on events held by churches and other nonprofit or the new Madison County Health Department is holding hearings on the proposed ordinance in preparation for presenting it to the County Board for a vote next month.

While relatively few objections have been raised about the county Board for a vote next month.

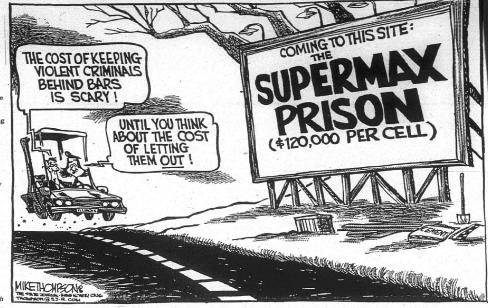

While relatively few objections have been raised about the plan to extend the regulations into church kitchens and club dinners may be leaving a bad taste.

Health Department officials concede that while the ordinance would allow for enforcement action for failure to comply, it is unlikely non-profit agencies would be "raided" if they failed to mikely non-profit organizations, whether it's the women's missionary group at a local church to a large civic organization.

By and large, the revenue margin for such events is pretty slim, and additional costs, such as a permit fee, hiring a cakes and ples, could quickly eat up the income and the charitable works that often supports.

For many years there have been public calls for Madison County to join virtually every other county in the state with some regulation of commercial cating establishments.

To proposed fees recognize that such regulation will be good for their image.

Being a word merchant of sorts, I find the things that happen to language through time and/or misuse a source of constant amusement. See a sort of constant amusement. See a sort of puzzle for me, much as a mathematician might consider solving a new equation.

That is, I hear the way some solving a new equation. That is, I hear the way particular individuals and I try to place their users' geographic location. Sometimes it's quite easy to do the solving a good solving a from the southern or southwestern United States; sometimes it's even possible to narrow it down even more closely by the year to be solving a good solving a few different languages. I've here those I try to place them, although I haven't had much practice, at that lately a many years ago I spent more those I try to place them, although I haven't had much practice, at that lately and years ago I spent was divided and troubled city.

it was a divided and troubled to the U-bahn (subway) and listen to the conductor call out the name of the stations. Boring? Yes. But, believe me, my threshold of amusement would rise and fall amount of income I had a tmy disposal, which was never a lot. A good imagination helped.

For a couple of bucks I could sit back and have a guided tour of the city. I'll never forget pulling into Rudesheimer Platz (now I'll never forget pulling into Rudesheimer Platz (now I'll never forget pulling into Rudesheimer Platz (now I'll never forget pulling into Rudesheimer Platzz."
That guy, I swear, would start that first R from somewhere down around his duodenum and finish that final Z as if he were contemplating a "Hohem., zollern Pllatzz."
I actually learned some German that way.
One thing about German, once you know mechanics of pronunciation, it's always the same, if you follow the rules. "Good of the the following samples of oddity: row and row; gh pronounced as f, and so on.
It's another kind of linguistic life."

Chouteau. And Des Peres. My personal favorite is Gravois. Gravoy? Close by, though, are Versailles (Versailes) and Cairo (Kayro). The Academie Francaise would implode. Back to those belle fountains: Can one still get a drink of warter there?

I don't know quite what to do with are not always the way they seem.

Botetourt is Bodytot;
Poquoson is Pokoson (or Pokoshun); Chowning is Kilkotan (accent on the first syllable); Warwick is Warrik; Gloucester is Glahster; Newport News is Newpnews; Portsmouth is Porchmuth; Portsmouth is Porchmuth; Syllable of Norfolk is "Maw."
But it's the final syllable we're concerned with here because it shouldn't be meaning the syllable of Norfolk is "Maw."
But it's the final syllable we're concerned with here because it shouldn't be many. I'll just say it's not folk, folks.
All of which leads me to our immediate area.

I know a little French, too, just enough to be dangerous.

How does one say "Le May" in American? Lee May, of course. Remember Gen.

course, Remember Gen.

Personally, I would love to

In the symmetric structure of places have at least made the attempt to maintain pronunciation (accent on attempt): Millstadt is Millstadt. Sauget is Sawjhay. Both of them are close, but not quite on the money.

I don't quite know what to do with Choulea Mand Des Peres. Gravois. Gravoy? Close by though, are Versailles (Versailes) and Cairo (Kayro). The Academie Francaise would implode.

Back to those belle fountains: Can one still get a drink of warter there? It's enough to cause Creve Coeur.

Pets just need a Social Security number

Unless I get overzealous sometime in early February, I usually start my taxes about 10 p.m. April 14.
I'm a procrastinator by nature — that's my only explanation for waiting to file my taxes. I don't spend nours itemize deductions. I don't have any interest income.

I don't even have any dependents. Well, at least not in the government's eyes. I started thinking about that I started thinking about that I started thinking about that of information from the Internal Revenue Service landed on my desk. The packet arrived after I'd made a $60 trip to the grocery store. I'd guess that at least one-third of that bill went to one-third of that bill went to sasorted supplies for my pets. At the time I remember thinking how much it was like having kids. But instead of loading up on sugar-coated cereals, multi-packs of Hostess products or jars of peanut butter and jelly. I was stocking bags of Alpo, tubs of Pedigree and cans of 9 Lives.

Maybe I've found the inspiration I need to do my takes earling on the "IRS Five Rules Test," there are five categories that must be met to qualify a dependent. I've decided that my dogs Scrufy and Buffy and cat Tigger swell, here goes.

Well, here goes.

Household or Relationship Test.— Dependents must live with the taxpayer for the entire year or be closely will, all three of my pets certainly spent 1995 under my roof. As for being related, does it count if they sleep on your feet?

Citizenship Test — Generally, dependents must be U.S. residents or citizens. Hey, no problem. Scruffy was born in Maryville, the product of a kennel. Buffy was born, well, someplace in my old hometown.

born, well, someplace in my old hometown.

I rescued Tigger from a tree in my front yard. I see what have to be siblings of his regularly about a block may regularly about a block may have been born somewhere in the neighborhood.

All U.S. citizens. Hey, this could work.

Joint Return Test.—Pependenis my my file joint featurn for Nicole and Scruffy Vaughn?

Not likely. So, no problem there either.

Gross Income Test.—The Gross Income test refers to how much income the dependent had during the year. Dependents must have less than $2,500...

Unless my furry trio bust out shorly after I de each day—and slink back ahead of me each evening — I don't think they've found employment. OK. This is good. Support Test — Finally, taxpayers usually must pay more than half the cost of supporting their dependents for the year.

Again, not a problem. I pay for food, water, shelter, lights and gas — all the comforts of their lives.

Wow. I could go from having no dependents one year to three the next! This is exciting.

no dependents one year three the next! This is exciting.

But .. to claim my
"dependents"! must have a Social Security number for exception of the security number of exception of the security number for November 1985.

Ratis! I don't need to do the math to see that I've been foiled there.

Or have!?

Should yetroll into a Should yetry office in the next month and see a woman — accompanied by two dogs and a striped cat — you'll know I'm going to try.

A shortage of election judges, an overabundance of ballot combinations and a whole lot of questions are all things Madison County Clerk Debbie Saltich is dealing with as the prepares for the March 19 primary election.

While Saltich has about 1,000 of the 1,115 ballot judges needed, it was initially slow going. A lot of would-be judges were put off by the two-tiered "motor-voter" law.

"It's going to be interesting, to say the least," Saltich said. "We'll be having a massive training session the week before the election. After that, hopefully, more judges will feel at ease."

The procedure used by Secretary of State George Ryan to carry out the motor voter law, starting last August, has prompted controversy, confusion and some chaos. Employees at drivers stations are they wish to register to vote under the federal law.

You can participate. When you join the Arbor Day Foundation, you will receive ten free Colorado Blue Spruces, or other conifers selected to grow in your area.

Colorado Blue Spruces have silver blue-green color and compact conical shape. They are guaranteed to grow, or the Foundation will replace them free of charge. Your six to twelve inch trees will come postpaid with easy planting instructions. Trees are shipped at the right time for planting in your area, February through May in the spring or October through mid December in the fall.

America needs more trees

The United States has lost a third of its forest cover in the last 200 years.

Our towns and cities should have twice as many street trees as we have today.

We need more trees around our homes and throughout our communities. We need more trees to protect our farm fields and our rivers and streams. To provide wood for our homes and a thousand products we use every day.

Trees help conserve energy

Trees cool our homes and entire cities in the summer, and slow cold winter winds. Shade trees and windbreaks can cut home utility bills 15-35%.

Trees clear the air we breathe. They provide lifegiving oxygen while they remove particulates from the air and reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide.

Colorado Blue Spruces can be planted as an energy-saving windbreak or screen, as individual ornamentals, or as living Christmas Trees.

Trees along rivers and streams help keep the water clean. Trees reduce the risk of flooding. Planted as field wind-breaks, they fight topsoil erosion.

Trees provide food, shelter, and nesting sites for songbirds.

Trees increase property values, and make our homes and neighborhoods more livable.

Player loyalty losing ground

When it comes to loyalty, my thoughts come in bunches.

I felt that way recently after a meeting of former County League baseball players at the Columbus Club in Millstadt, where several stars of bygone eras enjoyed a Sunday of conversation.

I am lucky. I watched Bruss-play when I was a youngster and cheered Cox, Keene and Chamberlain in their youth. Again, for Cox, I hope loyalty becomes an issue — as it was for the others in a most admirable way.

EXTRA INNINGS: Also attending the Oldtimers Day in Millstant was Jack Nesbit of Belleville, who is expected to join Bruss for a KOM reunion this summer in Pittsburg, Kan., where Nesbit was a catcher for the St. Louis St. When Mantle was a rookie in the KOM, the shortstop considered the best in the league was Kent Pflasterer of Freeburg, who toiled in the Brooklyn Dodgers organization.

Presenting the perfect contest for all budding young Rembrandts, O'Keeffes, Picassos and Michelangelos.

It's the 1996 U.S. Savings Bonds National Student Poster Contest.

It's a fun, educational project and a great way for 4th, 5th, and 6th grade artists to use their talents and learn the benefits of saving. Plus, they can win prizes ranging from a $200 to a $5,000 U.S. Savings Bond, and a trip to Washington, D.C.

To enter students must design a poster promoting the contest theme "U.S. Savings Bonds-A Great Way to Save." The contest deadline is January 12, 1996.
